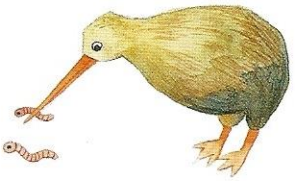
FICTION
Theme: Nature

The Story of the Kiwi



The Forest King had a problem. His trees were dying because insects were eating them. He asked the Sky King for help. The Sky King decided that one bird should leave the sky and live on the forest floor. It would eat the insects and save the trees. But none of the birds wanted to leave the sky. "It's too cold and dark in the forest," they complained. "But if the trees die," said the Sky King, "the other animals won't have a place to live." Finally, the brave kiwi said, "I'll do it." So, the kiwi lost its wings and went to live on the forest floor. "Thank you," said the Sky King. "You will be loved by everyone forever."

Main Idea

What is the main idea of this story?

a. why kiwis eat insects
b. why kiwis don't have wings
c. why other birds don't like kiwis